Manager's comment

During May, VNL repurchased and cancelled 7.8 million ordinary shares. This represents the single largest month of repurchases since the onset of the share buyback programme in October 2011. In total, the Company has now cancelled 33.8 million ordinary shares, representing 6.8 percent of the total shares in issue prior to the commencement of the share buyback program.

VNL's share price increased 0.2 percent to USD0.5537 as at 31 May 2014, from a closing price of USD0.5525 as at 30 April 2014. The Company's share price to NAV discount is currently 38.9 percent compared to 39.1 percent in April. Notably, VNL's current share price to NAV discount is now considerably lower than the 50.3 percent discount recorded on 30 September 2011, prior to the commencement of the share buyback programme.

Fund and market update

During the month, VinaLand Limited projects were internationally recognized with two awards at the 2014 Asia Pacific Property Awards, which are among the world's most prestigious real estate industry accolades. Along with joint venture partner Nordica, one of the largest private real estate groups in Denmark, the 5-Star award for Best Residential High-Rise Development - Vietnam was awarded for the Azura Luxury Apartment Building in the central city of Danang. VNL's Beachfront Enclave - Ocean Villas luxury residential project won the Highly Commended Residential Development – Vietnam award. The Beachfront Enclave is part of the Ocean Villas estate within Danang Beach Resort, incorporating 114 free-standing villas on beachfront land. Additionally, VinaLiving (the lifestyle brand used on several VNL projects) was recognized for its development marketing for both Vietnam and the Asia Pacific region.

The month of May witnessed significant political tension between Vietnam and China over the placement of a Chinese deep-sea oil rig in disputed waters of the East Sea (South China Sea), near the Paracel Islands and there were subsequent factory riots which occurred in several industrial parks throughout Vietnam. These events initially caused a sizeable correction in Vietnamese equity, with the VN Index declining from a pre-tension level of 560.0 to as low as 513.9 on 13 May 2014, however, as foreign investors continued to be net purchasers and the shock of the news subsided, the VN Index showed some recovery, ending the month at 562.0, a decline of just 3.1 percent from the end of April.

The tensions have not directly impacted Vietnam's real estate market or land values, however, hotel occupancy rates and tourism related businesses experienced a decline throughout the month of May as forward bookings were cancelled.

Macroeconomic update

According to the General Statistics Office (GSO), Vietnam's month-on-month consumer price index (CPI) increased 0.2 percent in May, bringing the year-on-year inflation rate to 4.7 percent. Price changes for the month were driven by slight changes in the housing and construction materials segment, which increased by 0.43 percent and transportation prices which rose by 0.36 percent. The prices for food and foodstuffs did not materially change in May, further contributing to overall price stabilisation.

According to HSBC Vietnam, its Purchasing Managers Index (PMI) was 52.5 in May 2014, the ninth consecutive month above 50.0. This implies steady growth in the manufacturing sector, specifically reflecting growth in new orders and higher consumer demand. In an encouraging development for FDI inflows, the Head of Samsung's Global Strategy Group announced that it will make a multi-billion investment in areas other than mobile phones and electronic equipment, diversifying into the construction of thermal power plants, shipyards, airports and petrochemical factories. This indicates Samsung's apparent commitment to making Vietnam its production hub in Asia.

As a result of the previously discussed geopolitical issues, the foreign exchange rate crept up to VND21,230 per USD, representing a depreciation of approximately 0.5 percent year-to-date. At the end of May, the free market and official bank rate on purchasing USD remained within the +/-1.0 percent bandwidth, implying a low level of risk for the local currency. The State Bank of Vietnam (SBV) declared that it stands ready to support the VND with open market intervention. It currently has a foreign reserve estimated at USD35.0 billion plus an additional USD10.0 billion from its balance of payments (BOP).

Fixed income

The primary bond market picked up in May after a slowdown in activity in April. A total of USD746 million worth of government and government-backed bonds were issued, an increase of 40.2 percent compared to April, as short and long term bond yields increased by 8 to 13 basis points across the yield curve. In the secondary market, the total trading volume for government and government-backed bonds increased 13.1 percent to USD1.85 billion for the month of May. Secondary market bond yields rose 4 to 28 basis points over the short-term and mid-point of the yield curve.
